Journal Activity

What does the wall represent in the lives of people around you?

How is the wall blocking their view of the future?

How could you help them see the other side of the wall?
